

Micronet Business Software

Micronet software offers businesses of various sizes a complete stock management system. Micronet is the owner and operator of the software, which means that businesses can rest easy knowing the same company that built the system is going to be the one supporting the system. The software is Windows based, fast and efficient, and provides businesses with a clear window to their supply chain with complete transparency. The software also includes benchmark and KPI reporting with the functionality to automatically email staff members and anyone else who is associated with the business and its supply chain. Micronet software also makes a lot of business sense. Not only does the system have the ability to manage accurate stock levels across a number of sites, it also has low IT and administration overheads and it allows you to take full ownership of the program and all its functions. Businesses using Micronet will also have access to their own dedicated account manager who will provide them with any assistance they require, which is another way that Micronet ensures its customers get the most out of their investment. The system is available as a cloud based or server deployed system.
